

Yes-No Questions in Turkish: between syntax, semantics and phonology

Beste Kamali

Bielefeld University

YNQs in Turkish are built with the focus-sensitive clitic -mI. Its distribution is not purely accounted for by focus, however. I discuss syntactic, semantic and phonological constraints on the placement of the clitic and delineate competing analyses.